

Crystal Karma introduces “Scratch Patch”

It's new, it's amazing. From Africa to Canada and now also in Australia.

A new phenomenon has appeared on the Arts and Crafts Market scene in and around Melbourne. The gemstone Scratch Patch amazes all who see it. “What a fantastic idea” people say. It made its Australian debut at the Dingley Art and Craft Market in September 2005 and now travels to Markets and Festivals all over Victoria by popular demand. It is a must if you have children who love gems and want to experience something new.

Collecting gems couldn't be any easier. The only hard thing is deciding which ones not to keep. Dazzling gemstones from all around the world are brought together in this treasure trove, You can get right among them, sort through them at your leisure and choose your own favourites. It's absorbing and so relaxing.

"Yes kids, you can touch!" That's the whole idea, interactive healthy fun.

What does it cost and what do you do?

It is free to look at the gems, but to collect some of your own, buy an empty collector's bag for only $6.00. The bag will hold at least 30 stones, that's a great start to any collection. Elsewhere you'll pay that for only three stones!

Whether you take just ten minutes or you take an hour to choose them one by one, you are guaranteed each one will be unique and polished to perfection. There is no time limit. Patience will reward the collector with a haul of real beauties.

There are at least fifty types of dazzling gemstones in the Scratch Patch. Tiger eye, amethyst, agate, jasper and aventurine just to name a few. A growing band of enthusiasts of all ages come back every month for more. We top up the patch regularly so there are ALWAYS beautiful stones to be found.

At the Scratch Patch, stall owner Rochelle Keleher will enthusiastically answer questions about the gems and their origins. Crystal Identification charts and books are also available. And while the kids are busy searching for their treasures, take the time to look through Crystal Karma's other great products.
